9. Categories, Events

9.1 Gender classes

At a competition male and female are basically evaluated separately. In the overall result male and female could be listed together.

9.2 Age groups

a. The male and female agegroups are listed identically and are calculated by the year of birth. The corresponding agegroup is calculated in the year in which the competition takes place minus the year of birth of the competitor.

b. Description and classification

- I) Youths: 16 - 17 years
- II) Juniors: 18 - 19 years
- III) U23: 20 - 22 years
- IV) Elite: 23 - 39 years
- V) Masters: 40 years and older.

Masters are separated in the following agegroups:

- Masters 40: 40 - 49 years
- Masters 50: 50 - 59 years
- Masters 60: 60 - 69 years
- Seniors: 70 years and older

c. The start recommendation of the agegroups are the following:

- Youths: Sprint
- Juniors: Sprint, Middle

- U23: Sprint, Middle, Long
- Elite: Sprint, Middle, Long
- Masters: Sprint, Middle, Long

Longer distances are not recommended for younger athletes. If they want to start, they can do this with written consent of their parents.

9.3 International championships

- a. International championships (world-, continental championships) are held as sprint-, middle- and long distance. The distinction is only by route length and not other factors. E.g sprint may be with road bike or MTB. They should be held annually. Different championships should not be held on the same weekend.
- b. Every athlete is listed for the world championship, if he/she fulfills the national terms and conditions.

9.4 World Cup

- a. The World Cup is held by the WQF as an event series. The mode and the rules are defined and distributed by the WQF at least 2 months prior to the first competition.
- b. All participants of a world cup event are automatically listed for the world cup results if they fulfill the national terms and conditions. The number of competitions for one athlete is not limited. The best four competitions are counted (maximum two from one country).
- c. For every competition every athlete can score points in the sequence of passing the finish line. The procedure is valid both general result and age groups. The score is separate for male and female. If athletes have the same amount of points (tie) then the higher number of best point races counts. Next criterion is the amount of completed competitions (higher prior to lower). Should then be the same score of points both athletes honoured equally.
- d. Distribution of points:
The formula to be, $\text{Points} = 1000 \times \frac{\text{Race time of fastest competitor}}{\text{Race time of competitor}}$. Each gender considered separately. Additional 200 points for championship races. Best four results to count, additional 100 bonus points for each race over four.
- e. National Quadrathlon Trophy
The National Quadrathlon Trophy will be awarded annually by the WQF. For each Nation, the highest number of points scored in each of the 16 WQF age and gender categories by an individual national in any one World Cup race during the season will be totalled. If no individual from a nation is represented in an age/gender group, then zero points will be scored for that category.

The trophy will be held by the winning nation for one year. It will be that nation's responsibility to ensure the trophy is available to be presented at the last race of the following season.

9.5 Relay or Team Events

- a. Organisation of relay/team events, as stand-alone events or alongside other events, is encouraged as a good means of introducing athletes to Quadrathlons.
- b. The WQF rules for each discipline apply to team/relay events. Various formats are acceptable, such as 2 or 4 team members taking turns to do each discipline, a team of 3 or 4 people doing all four disciplines in turn. In the first case, each discipline should be of the same distance as one of the WQF standard distances. In the second case the distances should be such that the time for the event is expected to be similar for one of the WQF standard distance races.
- c. Relay/team events that take place alongside other events may start simultaneously, or be staggered by a short time, or start before/after the event for individuals. If the relay/team event starts at the same time as the individual event then competitors may be individuals or team members, but not both; individuals and team members must be clearly distinguished by colour of swim hats, clearly different race numbers, or different colours of numbers, relay kayakers must display their number on their back; a relay team must not deliberately act to benefit an individual – time penalty or disqualification for the team and the individual (at the discretion of the organisers and dependent on the circumstances).
- d. Transition: Changeover between team members must be clearly outlined in race documents and at the race briefing. Transition rules must be the same as for individuals in each discipline. E.g. a cyclist changing over to/from another team member must put on their helmet after the incoming change and remove their helmet and rack their bike before the outgoing change.

10. Definitions and Distances

10.1 Definitions

Quadrathlon competitions are held as a combined event, where all disciplines are completed consecutively and without temporally interruption.

Long	4000 m	90 km	20 km	21 m

- b. The organiser can vary the distances up to 10% without consultation of the WQF. But the organiser should keep in mind not to change the individual disciplines in different directions.
- c. The organiser can get the permission by the WQF to vary the distances more than 10% or change the sequence of disciplines. In the case of off-road routes (especially with MTB), the route should be shortened (depending on local conditions). So that the racing time is similar.

Multi-sports that includes more than these four disciplines could be integrated within the WQF. The WQF develops corresponding distances and rules. Under these circumstances the sport and competition order could be continued.

11.4 Special rules

Basically the multi kinds of sport should maintain the rules of the WQF. However should be the need for special rules due to organisational or historical reasons, the WQF can accept these special rules. These special rules must be recognisable in the announcement.

12. Commencement

The sport and competition order was approved in the available version by WQF Executive Board on 9th November 2018 and comes into force with the publication.
